

Oct 27, 2014 00:00 GMT

Northumbria academic to take part in BBC Radio 3 Free Thinking Festival

A Northumbria University academic is taking part in a BBC Radio 3 debate as part of the station's Free Thinking festival.

Senior Lecturer in Health Psychology, Dr Vincent Deary, will take part in the 'Happy Talk' event at the Sage Gateshead on Saturday 1 November.

The discussion will address questions such as "How much self-knowledge do you need to be happy - and to what extent can you achieve this alone?" These questions are similar to those posed by Dr Deary in his new book, How

We Are, which explores the nature of habit and the difficulty of making changes in our daily lives.

“The discussion is very relevant to my book, which takes a close look at human nature – who we are and how we work,” explains Dr Deary.

“Psychology sometimes forgets that we are also bodies, living and acting in particular contexts, with other people, and that our habits will also be embodied in these contexts. We need to think about what “happiness” means for a given individual at a given point in their lives, and what kind is realistically attainable. What might happiness look like for them: peace, equanimity, purpose, pleasure, rest from strife or purposeful struggle?”

Now in its ninth year, the Free Thinking festival brings together leading thinkers for a weekend of debate, ideas, music and performance, with many of Radio 3’s usual programmes coming live from the Sage Gateshead.

Dr Deary will be joined on the panel by Paul Dolan, Professor of Behavioural Science at the London School of Economics and the author of Happiness by Design, and Beatrix Campbell, a writer who received an OBE for ‘services to equality’. BBC broadcaster Philip Dodd will chair the discussion.

“As a Newcastle local, I was keen to support such an important cultural event in the North East,” added Dr Deary. “I certainly hope the festival will help to make topics like this engaging, interesting and accessible to the public.”

The discussion will be broadcast on BBC Radio 3’s Free Thinking programme following the festival.

Free tickets for this event are available from - <http://www.sagegateshead.com/event/happy-talk/>

Northumbria is a research-rich, business-focussed, professional university with a global reputation for academic excellence. To find out more about our courses go to www.northumbria.ac.uk

If you have a media enquiry please contact our Media and Communications team at media.communications@northumbria.ac.uk or call [0191 227 4571](tel:0191 227 4571).

Contacts

Rik Kendall

Press Contact

PR and Media Manager

Business and Law / Arts, Design & Social Sciences

rik.kendall@northumbria.ac.uk

07923 382339

Andrea Slowey

Press Contact

PR and Media Manager

Engineering and Environment / Health and Life Sciences

andrea.slowey@northumbria.ac.uk

07708 509436

Rachael Barwick

Press Contact

PR and Media Manager

rachael.barwick@northumbria.ac.uk

07377422415

James Fox

Press Contact

Student Communications Manager

james2.fox@northumbria.ac.uk

Kelly Elliott

Press Contact

PR and Media Officer

kelly2.elliott@northumbria.ac.uk

Gemma Brown

Press Contact

PR and Media Officer

gemma6.brown@northumbria.ac.uk